The root canal system is inherently complex, often presenting significant challenges in achieving efficient negotiation and instrumentation. With the proper armamentarium, clinicians can streamline their approach, improve consistency, and enhance predictability in clinical outcomes. Join Dr. Ham as he shares his strategies for managing anatomical complexities.

By the end of this session, participants will be able to:

- Identify common anatomical challenges within the root canal system and understand how they influence negotiation and instrumentation strategies.
- Implement step-by-step instrumentation techniques demonstrated by Dr. Ham to improve efficiency and predictability in complex cases.
- Apply strategies to minimize file separation risk and enhance overall procedural consistency across varied canal anatomies.
- Integrate optimized rotary workflows that support smoother clinical performance and improved patient outcomes.
